

Tutor child: how to find, choose

Perhaps, in every family where there are children of school age, sooner or later the question arises about the additional lessons in a particular subject. And for that you need a tutor. Here are the questions in front of parents face a lot: how to choose, how to organize classes, and, whether we tutor. So first try to understand in what cases it is necessary to seek the assistance of Tutors, and when to cope on their own.

Who needs a tutor?

How to understand that the child needs extra classes? The main thing – not to yield to the General sentiment and not follow fashion. Not every child needs the help of a tutor. But if Your child missed classes for any reason, and independently (or with Your help) will not be able to catch up, the tutor will need.

Also the tutor should be contacted if the child is not systematically assimilates the school curriculum. The reason for the failure may be health, namely mental peculiarities, due to which the student has reduced attention, memory, perception, or performance.

Often to the help of Tutors used in the case of the approaching admission of the child in the next school, if any knowledge there are significant gaps.

Whom the tutor does not need?

Even if almost all children in your class engaged with Tutors, and Your child virtually alone to cope with homework and assimilate the school knowledge, you refrain from thinking about the tutor.

Also try not to go on about their own ambitions and to make a child of honors. Remember that almost all brilliant the teaching is very mediocre in school, and three, as estimates have not been canceled. Find the field of activity of the child, which he is not only successful but also happy and proud of him. Maybe it draws, or plays football. A strong mentality and confident look in the future is much more important for Your child than a forced four or five. And the relationship between You are sure to become more warm and trusting, which is also important.

The pace of life of modern student is very quick, the lessons are replaced by electives, then circles, classes in music or sports school, swimming pool, etc. If the rhythm is difficult to carve out a place on the tutor, then you do not need to do write essays for money this, because performance can only get worse.

When and how to choose a tutor?

If You are sure that without the tutor can not do, correctly come to the question of his choice.

The choice of the tutor need to attend to before the start of the school year, since classes (even Tutors) typically begin from September.

To in vain not to spend time, not money, choose a tutor who teaches this same subject that You need. If the same person has to know everything and everyone, regardless of age, it is likely that his knowledge is quite superficial, and perhaps lack of professional.

Knowing what You want, begin the search for the right tutor. To get started, talk with the teacher (in the school where Your child learns), which is a subject that causes difficulties in the child. Perhaps the teacher will tell You who to contact. And remember that a competent teacher he will not do tutoring with private students. You can also communicate with friends, acquaintances and parents whose children already have the results from additional studies. But you don't need to rely on the experience of others, as each case is individual as each child. It is often a good option you can pick up and read the ads (in Newspapers, on the Internet), the main thing – to meet a suitable candidate Tutors.

What is important at the first meeting with the tutor?

Not to get lost in a personal meeting and not to forget anything, write down all questions You have and ask them to tutor. Preferably the presence of the child at the first meeting. So You will be able to evaluate not only the interest of the tutor, but also to see how he is able to establish contact with the child. Let the child also asks all the questions. If the setting You want, then tell the tutor about the problems and the characteristics of the child (fatigue, restlessness, attention deficit, etc.). Also don't forget to inquire about the education of the tutor as the person concerned will come to the meeting with documents, confirming his qualification. But even if You are totally satisfied with everything, and the child refuses to engage with Your chosen person, note his opinion and select another tutor, or hold classes under the clear control. Perhaps in the course of further communication, the child's opinion will change, but if not, you will need to change tutor.

The tutor's qualifications

Speaking of professional readiness of the teacher, it is important to determine why You hire him. If suddenly in Your life occurred some changes, which You can't help your child with homework (employment, travel, health, etc.), and without such help, then we can consider the candidacy of a student who for a modest fee perfectly cope with the task.

If the child's future, in Your opinion, will directly influence the knowledge of a particular subject, then it is better to consult a specialist in this area. As a competent, qualified and experienced teacher will be able not only to give the child the necessary knowledge, but also will motivate for the next steps in learning, expanding horizons and increasing the interest of the student.

Process additional training

No need to think that after the selection of the tutor and of payment for his services Your mission ends. A professional tutor will be willing to share with You the achievements of the child and the prospects of teaching. The child will also share their impressions of the lessons that cannot be ignored. If You feel that he gets very tired and sore after a workout, then find out the cause of this behavior and will notify the tutor. Good result tutoring – positive results in the school, satisfaction of the student and his desire to attend additional classes.

The classes can be held in individual form and sub-groups. High employment rates of the tutor and its demand can force the teacher to engage with a group of children at the same time. Usually such groups is not more than 5 persons. Subgroup from forms of work has its advantages and disadvantages that depend on personal characteristics and problems of a child. When Your child to play comfortably in a group, and the results You are quite satisfied, and worry no reason.

That should be alerted

Perhaps the most important – the child's contact with the teacher and then the form in which classes are held. If the tutor leads the lesson in the form of a monologue, without requiring the feedback and not answering the questions of the student, the effectiveness of such work will be low.

How punctual Your chosen person is also very important. Not necessary if the child is a long wait at the door, how often are transferred classes? Better, of course, know about it in advance.

Cheerleaders should and excessive talkativeness of the tutor (not the subject). If a child came home from classes, long talks about where the rest of the teacher or interesting stories from the lives of his Pets, then be sure to ask, was this conversation during a small break or in the process of learning. When the tutor talks more abstract themes than on the merits of the subject, the question of his replacement.

Also a reason to be suspicious – the indifference of the tutor to the child's success in school. The man who is not interested in the results of their work cannot be considered a good specialist.
